

Vítor J. Sá

Psychosocial Rehabilitation

Graduated and Master in Informatics Engineering from University of Minho, in 1993 and 1998, respectively. Vítor J. Sá was a Lecturer at UM, worked four years in Germany as a Researcher at the Institute of Computer Graphics (Fraunhofer IGD) in Darmstadt and was a consultant/trainer at the company PMO Projects, specialized in Project Management. Obtained his Ph.D. in 2014 in the field of Information Systems and Technology, from the University of Minho, with the thesis "Gestural Dynamics with Skin Conductivity - a Multimodal Approach for Biometric Authentication". Vítor J. Sá was an Assistant Professor at Universidade Católica Portuguesa where he held the positions of Director of the Institute of Computing and Data Science, and Coordinator of the Degree in Information and Communication Technologies and the Degree in Applied Data Science. He is currently an Assistant Professor at the School of Health of the Polytechnic of Porto, developing his research activity at CIR/LabRP. Its main areas of teaching/research are Computer Graphics, Multimodal Interaction, Virtual Reality, Bioinformatics, Programming Languages, Project Management, Media Arts, Digital Health and e-Learning.

ORCID: 0000-0002-4982-4444

E-mail: vitor.sa@ess.ipp.pt