

Filipa Pereira

Área: Human Movement System (Re)habilitation

A Speech Therapist graduated in 2022 from the School of Health (E2S-IPP), Filipa is currently dedicated to her Master's degree at the same institution, where she deepens her expertise in communication and oral functions. She serves as a Research Fellow at the Center for Rehabilitation Research (CIR), integrating the Human Movement (Re)habilitation Area.

Her scientific work is primarily focused on the intricate mechanisms of orofacial motricity, with a specialized interest in the physiological processes of breathing and mastication.

By combining her research activities with a clinical perspective, she aims to contribute to the development of evidence-based assessment protocols and interventions that prioritize the restoration of functionality and the enhancement of the patient's overall quality of life.
